

BPHC WORKFORCE INNOVATIONS TRAINING PROGRAMS

Social Determinants and the Law

Description

Recognizing the significance of social determinants on health outcomes, BPHC has developed a one-day training program for Care Coordinators and their supervisors to help them understand how to recognize and help patients with domestic violence, immigration and housing referrals.

Participants will receive resource materials that will serve as a tool to help make referrals to available community resources.

Audience

Care Coordinators, other similar titles, and their supervisors

Topics

- Social determinants that can be addressed through legal solutions
- Domestic violence, immigration and housing
- Roles in advocacy and making referrals
