Save the Date: Poverty Simulations

Thursday, October 17

Thursday, November 14

Thanks to excellent reviews, BPHC is providing two Poverty Simulations for member organizations this fall -- October 17 and November 14 from 9 a.m. to 12:30 p.m.

This informative and immersive program brings to light the experience of poverty and its impact on our communities' health. Experts will explore the relationship between poverty and health disparities and how we can improve our patients' and clients' experiences when they visit us for services.

Participants will also take on the role of family members living on a limited budget and learn about the challenges and difficult choices they make and the toll it takes on their health and access to care.

The trainings are open to all members of our PPS. Registration information will be sent out after Labor Day.

If you have questions or would like registrations reserved for your group for either of these two dates, contact Millie Stanton.

Listen to "SBH Bronx Health Talk"

SBH's new podcast, SBH Bronx Health Talk, provides a close-up of medical and healthcare news in the Bronx.

In last week's podcast, Jennifer Rodgers, SBH's Administrative Director of Addiction Medicine, walks listeners through the journey involved in achieving sobriety.

Weekly episodes have focused on adolescent health, allergies, geriatric care, maternal care/midwifery, WIC services, sleep disorders and more.

The podcast is available on Spotify, Apple iTunes, Google Play, Podbean, and on sbhbronxhealthtalk.org.
